Comprendre - Conscientiser

Quelle est votre définition du Syndrome de l'Imposteur ?

En 3 mots

UNE DEFINITION

Qu'est-ce que le syndrome de l'imposteur ?

Un sentiment d'imposture

- > “Je ne le mérite pas”
- > “Je ne suis pas à ma place”
- > ”C’est trop beau pour être vrai”
- > “C’est un coup de chance
- > “Qu’est-ce que je fais là ?”

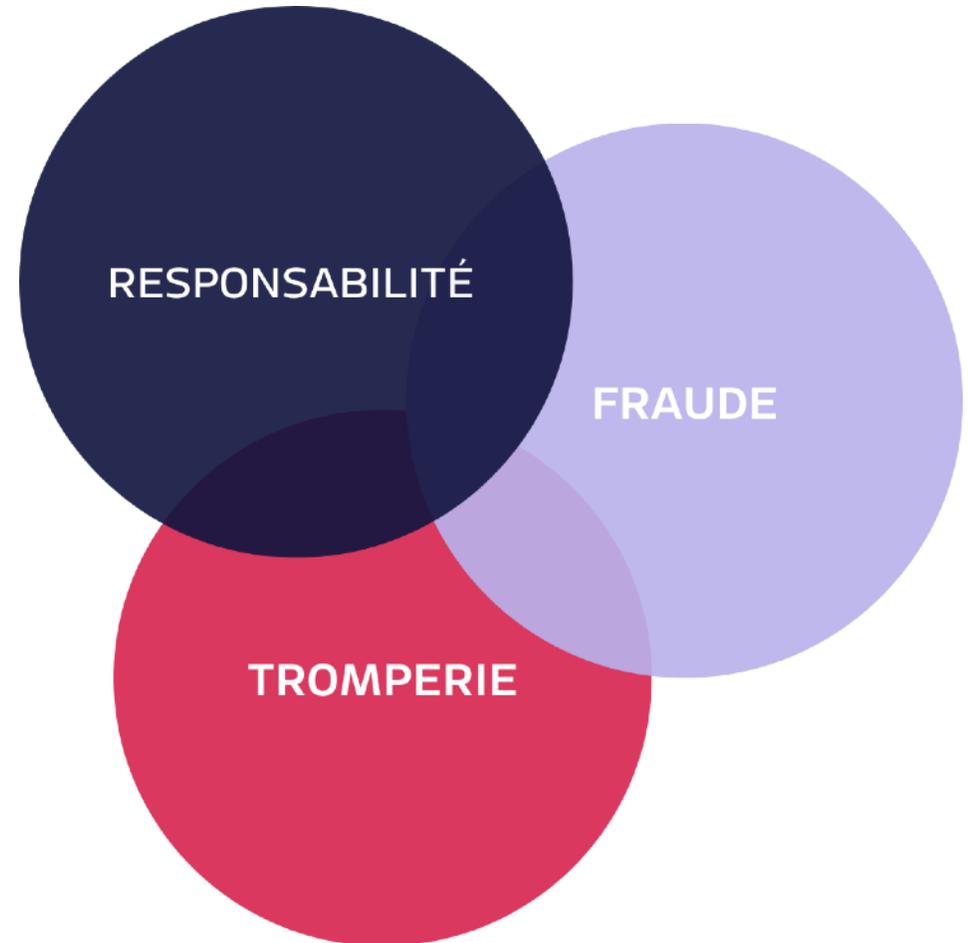

UNE DEFINITION

Qu'est-ce que le syndrome de l'imposteur ?

Les 3 piliers

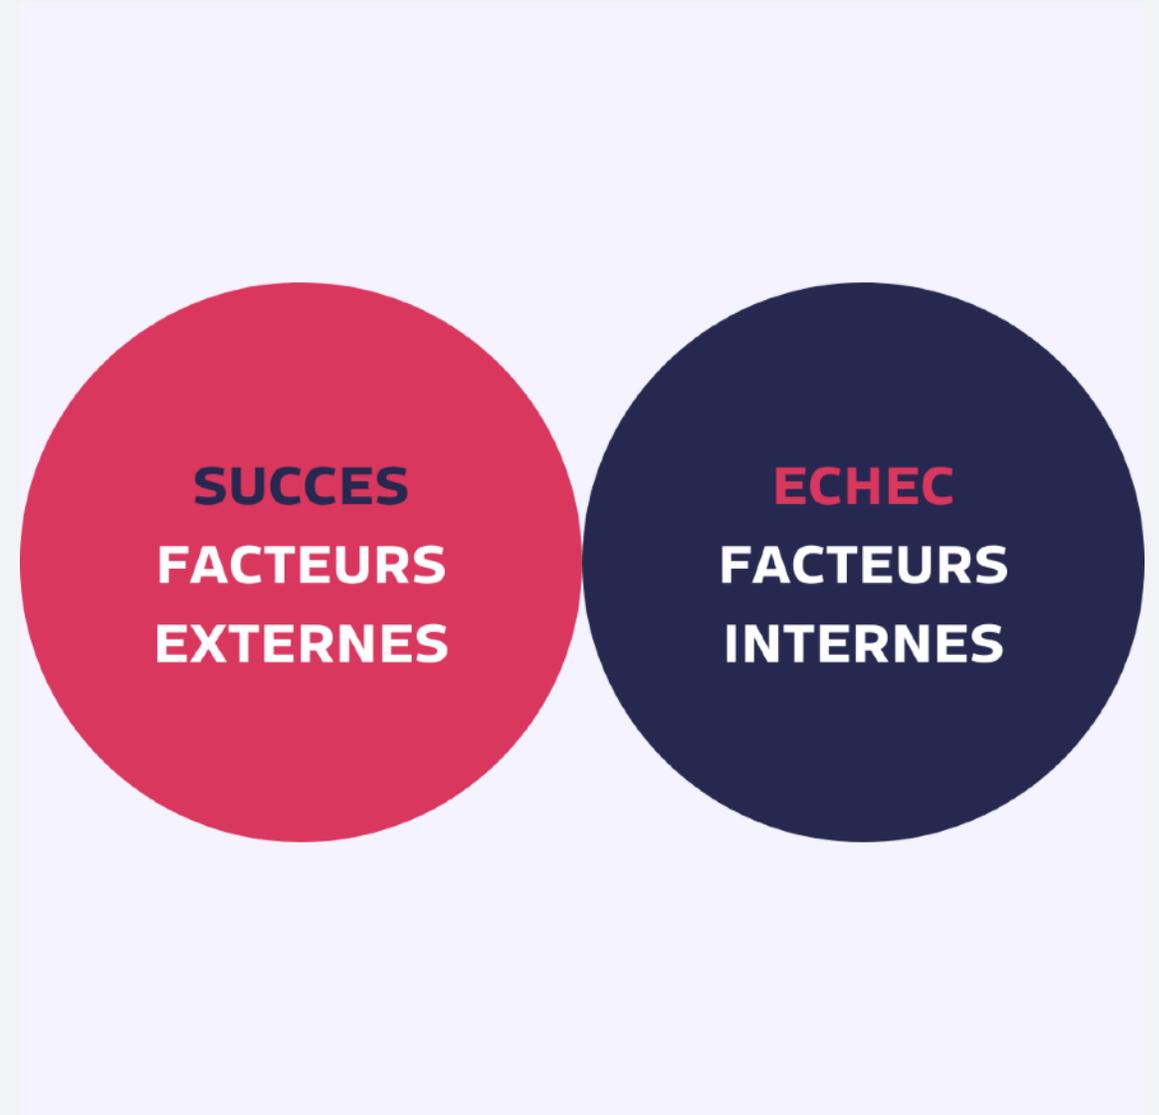

- > Impression de tromper l'autre, son entourage
- > Mauvaise attribution : le succès est lié à la chance, l'échec à moi
- > Peur d'être démasquée

LES SYMPTÔMES

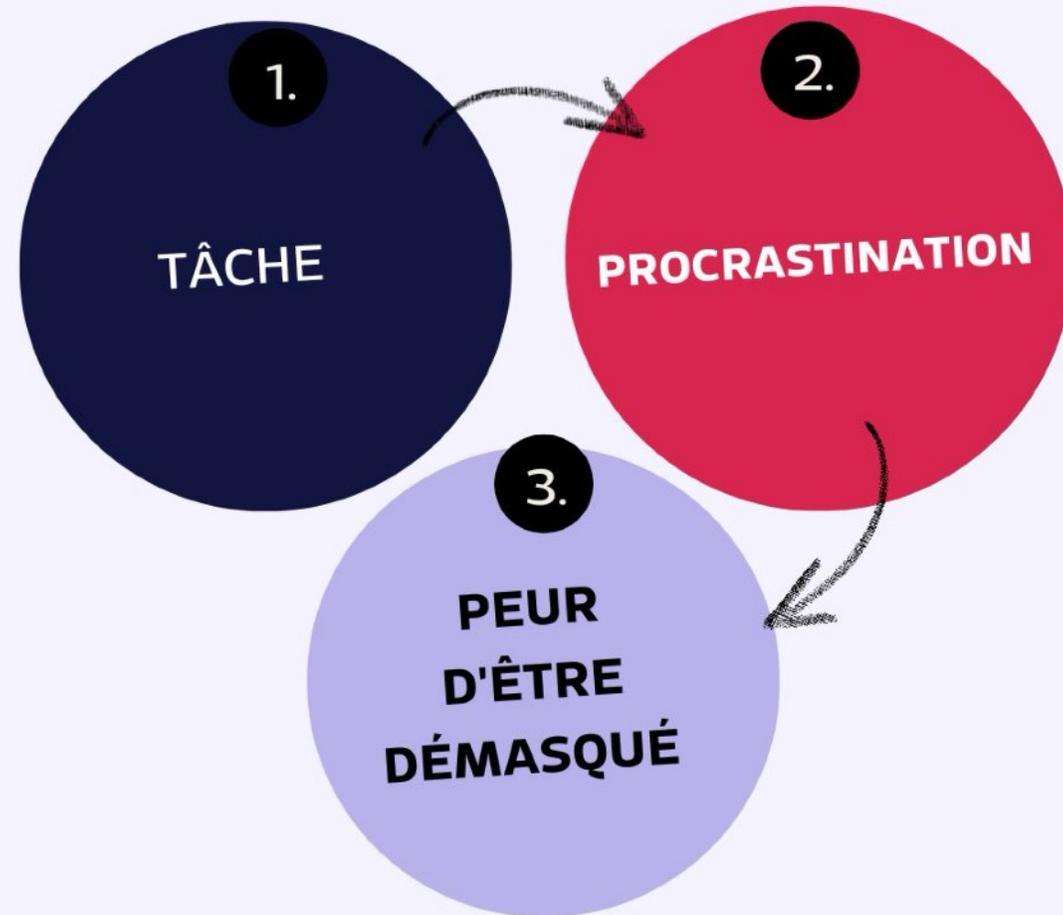

Qu'est-ce que le syndrome de l'imposteur ?

- > Une définition fixe de ce qu'est la performance ou la réussite
- > Une forte anxiété (on passe son temps à anticiper le pire)
- > Une culpabilité à la simple idée de réussir
- > Un dénigrement de ses propres compétences

LE CYCLE DE L'IMPOSTEUR

Qu'est-ce que le syndrome de l'imposteur ?

D'après vous, quel pourcentage de la population a été au moins une fois sujet au syndrome de l'imposteur ?

70%

« 70% DES individus AYANT vécu
le syndrome, au moins une fois dans leur vie.
Répartition: 66% pour les femmes,
et 56% pour les hommes »

ORIGINES

D'où vient le Syndrome de l'Imposteur ?

Phénomène Imposteur

Années 70 : deux psychologues aux États-Unis, Suzanna Imes et Pauline Rose Clance

Malgré ses propres compétences et ses succès passés, nous ne nous sentons pas suffisamment intelligent, capable ou créatif.

Pourtant la motivation est là pour accomplir un projet, mais il y a toujours cette peur d'être exposé et découvert au grand jour !

ORIGINES

D'où vient le Syndrome de l'Imposteur ?

l'Ego 🐈 : la mauvaise nouvelle (made by yourself, on yourself, against yourself).

Une voix dans la tête :

“Tu ne peux pas le faire”

“Pour qui te prends-tu ?”

ORIGINS

Where does it come from ?

Impostor Phenomenon

In the 1970s, two psychologists in the United States, Suzanna Imes and Pauline Rose Clance,

Despite their own skills and past successes, one does not feel intelligent, capable, or creative enough.

However, the motivation is present to accomplish a project, but there is always this fear of being exposed and discovered in broad daylight!
